Contents

Editorial 53

Book reviews and Conference report 54

Papers

W. E. Boyd — Towards a conceptual framework for environmental archaeology: environmental archaeology as a key to past geographies 63

M. G. Bell — Cultural landscapes: some thoughts stimulated by Bill Boyd’s paper: Towards a conceptual framework for environmental archaeology: environmental archaeology as a key to past geographies 69

Martin Jones — Comments on Boyd: Towards a conceptual framework for environmental archaeology: environmental archaeology as a key to past geographies 71

K. D. Thomas — What’s in a name? Anyone can be an environmental archaeologist 72

M. van der Veen — Commentary on Boyd’s Towards a conceptual framework for environmental archaeology: environmental archaeology as a key to past geographies 76

W. E. Boyd — Reply to Bell, Jones, Thomas and Van der Veen 77

Philip L. Armitage — Post-medieval cattle horn cores from the Greyfriars site, Chichester, West Sussex, England 81

Stephen Carter — The distribution of the land snail Vitrina contracta (Westerlund) in a calcareous soil on Martin Down, Hampshire, England 91

Bruce Levitan — A method for investigating bone fragmentation and anatomical representation 95

G. M. Coles — A note on the systematic recording of organic-soil microfossils (other than pollen and spores) found in archaeological and Quaternary palynological preparations 103